Packy McFarland's Trick of Shutting Off Opponent's View With Open Left Hand and Uppercutting With Right Cleverest of All—Cross Imitates Murphy With Inside Uppercut.

One Rubin, and knocked Gus down so hard that the Akron Giant's nose struck the floor first. John L. Sullivan had a somewhat similar blow that he called the "back-lung punch." It was delivered between the shoulder blades.

Up-to-date scrappers have turned out some clever stunts in the line of hitting. Tommy Murphy uses an inside uppercut, sliding his glove right up close to his own body in clinches and jumping up from his toes as the blow lands.

Leach Cross copied that punch and used it on Mandot. "I knew it was good from the way it jarred me," said Cross. "So I practiced it. Mandot boxed rings around me, but in close I got to him with Tommy's uppercut. He was putting it all over me until I had the luck to catch him just right. The Murphy uppercut is going to help me out with Rivers too."

When Abe Attell knocked out Ollie Kirk Wednesday night he used little of his old shifty work, stood flat-footed and slugged. "I knew he couldn't hurt me," said Abe afterward. "So I let him land three or four. I figured that I'd feel when he was starting the next one and he'd pull back, and then I'd work the same overhead right that Young Corbett flattened Terry McGovern with. Practiced that because I wanted a punch, and I knew it was effective. It got him."

Mexican Joe Rivers uses a different stunt. Joe's specialty, helped out by great strength in the arms and shoulders, is a snappy short hook while he is coming from a clinch. He knocked K. O. Brown down with this punch in Los Angeles, dazing him so badly that Brown was an easy victim for the following knockout. Leach Cross learned how it felt to run his jaw into this short right a few months ago. Rivers also used him with it in the last round and Leach did the same for a few seconds.

Packy McFarland has developed one of the cleverest tricks of all in the every fight the spectators see Packy pawing out with the left now and then and tapping with the half open glove, withdrawing slowly. That's the beginning of the trick. Packy covers his opponent's eye for a second and shuts off the view. In the same instant Packy's right uppercut starts. And it lands. You can't dodge gloves in the dark.

Fitzsimmons was about as versatile a hitter as any ever seen in the ring. Bob thinks his hitting can still win. Yesterday I had a letter from him saying that he'd like to fight this youngster, Gunboat Smith, and show the public how much better the Fitzsimmons style of hitting was. Fitz, being only fifty, feels frisky still. Jim Mace fought half a dozen fights in the ring when he was over sixty. Fitz said the public how much better the Fitzsimmons style of hitting was. Fitzsimmons traveled about knocking out all comers. He hit some on the jaw so hard that they didn't wake up until next day—which interfered with training schedules. So Mike cornered Fitz and said: "See here, you're going to kill somebody if you go on hitting 'em around the head. You haven't any idea of how hard you can hit. You think it's funny to knock a man out six hours. Some day you'll be sorry. Hit them in the pit of the stomach and they'll go out just as easily and you won't take any risk of trouble." Fitz tried out a few body punches and he tried the shift and the solar plexus.

Leach Cross is the most candid fighter in the world. There's only one in Leach's class, and that's Leach. This is what Leach said after coming back from New Orleans, fresh from knocking out Joe Mandot. "Mandot made me look foolish. He was beating me right up to the time I landed the first knockout. Say, he'd had the decision sure. And Mandot had the grip too. I know; his wife told me about it. Gee! I was a lucky guy!"

And here's what Leach says about his future. "I was lucky with Mandot. Now Rivers has just been married, and I'll catch him when he hasn't had his mind on training. And then if I beat him I get Rivers, and he's been boxing in the theater for six months. If my luck holds out I'll be champion. I should worry!"

Busy Time on Whitney Farm
Getting Color Bearers Ready
For Local Racing Season

Forty-five Horses Now at Brookdale, Many of Them Promising Youngsters.

No one is more prepared for New York's racing revival than "Jimmy" Rowe, the veteran trainer. Rowe has forty-five thoroughbreds at Harry Payne Whitney's Brookdale farm at Lyncroft, N. J., almost ready for a strenuous campaign. Of course most of these are two-year-olds whose early racing success can only be guessed at, but Rowe has several useful members of the older division too, who will be on edge when they face the barrier. Among the latter are recent arrivals from England, Iron Man and Ambrosio, for instance.

This has been no time for resting for any of the hands employed on Mr. Whitney's Jersey farm. Every one from Jimmy Rowe down to the newest stable boy has been working with a purpose recently, to put the thoroughbreds of the noted horseman in racing shape.

Harry Payne Whitney kept many of his horses in this country in the dark days when few expected that the sport would ever be resumed here, but he also raised a string with good success abroad. He remained steadfast in his determination to operate his famous stock farm when other owners cut down their operations to little or nothing.

After racing looked like a dead letter here, and when James R. Keene found it necessary to dispense with the services of Jimmy Rowe, Whitney engaged Rowe, who incidentally had established a record for the American turf by winning $100,000 for Mr. Keene in one season. Jimmy Rowe's development of the Whitney horses was magical. Youngsters like Iron Man and Ambrosio, who were shipped to England in 1912 and more than made good on the foreign track. Great things are expected of them this year if the sport assumes anything like its former importance.

A glance at the famous Brookdale in the Whitney stud books back memories of the old racing days. Turf followers don't forget even to this day when Brookdale, running in the Brighton

LIVERPOOL, England, March 22.—Freddie Welsh, the champion light-weight boxer of England, sailed for New York today on board the Mauretania. He expects to arrive at the Metropole Hotel on Monday.

Suburban Open Season To-Morrow. The baseball season of 1913 will be given an early start at Suburban Oval, Sixteenth and Gravesend avenues, Brooklyn, to-morrow, when the Suburbans, with many new faces and much added strength, will play the Washington team of the late United States League, which is still intact. The game will be called at 2 o'clock.

Drew to Run in Brooklyn. With an entry to the upcoming will over three hundred the racing game of the second Battalion, Naval Militia, which will be held in the armory at Fort and 11th streets, New York City, on Tuesday night, will be a race against time to finish the entry.

ARMY-NAVY GAME
MAY BE PLAYED HERE
ON POLO GROUNDS.

The next Army-Navy football game will probably be played in this city. Representatives of West Point and Annapolis are now in town consulting with the management of the Polo Grounds for the use of the Brush Stadium for the purpose of holding the annual gridiron contest between Uncle Sam's naval and military academies. The men representing the two branches of the United States service appear to be very favorably impressed with the Polo Grounds as a place to hold the annual contest of the football season, and it is expected that they will close the deal in a few days.

PREDICT WESTERNER
WILL BEAT SWIMMERS
AT N. Y. A. C. TO-NIGHT

500-Yard National Title Goes to Winner of Event.

ONE of the most important swimming events ever decided in the tanks of the New York A. C. is scheduled for to-night. It will be the final heat of the national 500-yard swimming championship, in which Perry McGilvray and H. J. Heberner, representing the Illinois A. C., will compete against Nicholas T. Nerich and J. H. Reddy of the home team. In the two trial heats which were held last evening Nerich defeated McGilvray in the first in the slow time of 2:10.5, while in the second heat Heberner won in easy fashion from Reddy, the present national champion, in 1:44. Many of the wisecracks, after watching Heberner win so easily from Reddy, are of the opinion that the Western crack will romp home the winner of the title to-night.

By administering a shock to the Nashville team, the athletes won their fifteenth year in a row. All three of the Atlantic tapers, Planck, Bush and Brown, showed in excellent form, only allowing the Southern battalions to make four out of all out of their careers.

Charles Dean bought the Phillies in Southern Pines, N. C., yesterday, and had them play the Eastern team in the Southern League. The Phillies were in fine form, and as a result they had no trouble in shutting out the Orioles by a score of 4 to 0. The first two of the game were the great twinning of recent times, who only allowed one hit in five innings, and a wonderful running game by Parker of Louisville, who drove in three runs which looked good for a homer.

Columbia's favorite left fielder in the opening bouts of the annual intercollegiate championship tournament, they won fifteen hits and lost three runs in the first two games. The team of the Eastern team, who were the favorites, were defeated by a score of 4 to 0. Giant Regulars Play
At Houston and Colts
At Galveston To-Day

McGraw's Men Leave Marlin in Even Better Condition Than Last Year and Expect to Win Another Pennant.

Marlin, Tex., March 22.—"Way Down Upon the Suwanee River," all the world is sad and dreary, especially the portion of it since the entire Giant squad went away. For over a month this place was the liveliest sort of a town, but now that the New Yorkers have started on their way Northward, things will be awful slow until they land here again next winter.

It was near midnight when the Giants broke camp, and it was with many regrets that the men did so, as they became so attached to Marlin that it seemed almost like home. The regulars will play in Houston to-day, while the Colts will wage battle at Galveston to-day. Tomorrow afternoon the club will change about, the Regulars going to Galveston and the Colts to Houston. After these two games the two teams will take separate and distinct routes North.

It was Manager McGraw's intention to have the Colts return to Marlin and remain here for a week longer, but a schedule has been made for them to depart for the way back, and both teams will break up at the same time. The departure last night resembled a circus getting out of town. Three Pullman cars were rented to accommodate the party. The hotel all day was a scene of bustle, porters running to and fro with trunks, bags and other traveling articles.

The party that went to Houston included Doyle, Mathewson, Witte, Gossard, Burns, Touseau, Merkle, De Vore, Meyers, Snodgrass, Herzog, Shaver, Wilson, Murray, Smith, Hartley, Crandall, Schupp and Demaree. Manager McGraw expresses himself as very much pleased with the progress that has been made here this spring, and is proud to be satisfied with the condition that the team will start the 1913 race with.

The Little Corporal declares that the Giants are more formidable now than they were this time last year. All of the players are confident in finishing first under the wire again this season. The practice yesterday was very light, as the boys were a little tired from the ball Thursday night, which was a hoisting success.

The game between the Giants and the Marlin High School boys resulted in a one-sided affair, the Giants winning by the score of 11 to 1. Notwithstanding the terrible trouncing they were getting the school lads displayed a fighting spirit that should eventually bring them success.

Benny Meyers to Report To Dodgers After All. AUGUSTA, Ga., March 22.—Benny Meyers, who was turned over to New York by the Giants several years ago and later sent to Toronto by the New York Club, will report to the Dodgers after all. About a month ago he notified Manager Tamm of the Brooklyn team that he had decided to retire from the game. Yesterday, Tamm received word from President Tamm that Meyers would report to the Dodgers at once.

The Brooklyn team will be strengthened by Meyers, as he is a hard-hitting outfielder. Last year as a member of the Maple Leafs he batted .315 and stole forty-three bases.

Three Bases. The famous Dodger Nap Rube, who was hit by a ball thrown by Pitcher Hall, the youngster from West Virginia. The accident brought a little blood, but caused no serious injury.

It's over a week now since the Dodgers have been able to go out to Warrenton.

FOUR BOUTS ARRANGED FOR LUTHER M'CARTY

He Finds That He Is Not a Success as a Theatrical Star, So He'll Return to Ring.

BY JOHN POLLOCK. HAVING concluded that he is not a success as a theatrical star, Luther McCarty, claimant of the white heavyweight championship title, has decided to get back into the real fighting business. He has authorized his manager, Billy McCarney, to arrange some fights for him, and so far he has practically clinched four, which will bring him in $20,000. His first go will be with Jim Flynn for six rounds in Philadelphia on April 15, his second with Frank Moran, for six rounds, at Pittsburgh on April 23; his third with either Carl Morris or some other heavyweight, at Kansas City on May 4, while his fourth will be with Tommy Burns, the ex-heavyweight champion, for fifteen rounds, at Calgary, Alberta, Canada, May 24.

Freddie Welsh, the English light-weight champion, and Herbert Wynn, the Australian heavy-weight, will leave England to-day for this country on the steamship Mauretania. Welsh is coming over to try and get on a bout with Willie Ritchie, the champion of Canada, while Wynn will have a match with Gunboat Smith or some of the other big fellows.

There will be a featherweight elimination tournament held by the Fort-Louis street sporting club on Thursday night. Three ten-round bouts will be fought, the following well-known fighters: Eddie Doyle and Bob Nelson, Frankie Fleming of Canada and Tommy and Buck Phillips, and Young Brown, of Brooklyn and George Kirkwood of St. Louis.

Harry Donohue, the clever light-weight of Peoria, Ill., has been necessary to cancel to-day's game scheduled with the Newark at Savannah. Only five days of practice are left for the Dodgers here.

Hal Chase May Play Few Innings in Game To-Day. HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 22.—Hal Chase's injured ankle has recovered so rapidly that it is likely that he will play a few innings in the fifth game of the series between the Highlanders and the Skeeters scheduled for to-day.

Manager Chance, though, will not allow the crack infielder to take any unnecessary risk, and he will probably let him to take things easy until next week. The series between the two clubs practicing here is now even, each side having won two games. There is great interest over to-day's struggle and the betting promises to be lively all the way.
